JOHN ROBINSON COMING

World of Work to Make the Show Ready. Robinson Carries Army of Men.

It is no small job to unload the long trains of cars of the wagons, animals, and accoutrements necessary to a big show. But this done, the work of getting things in shape for the parade and the afternoon show comes next. There are a thousand and one things to do, but there are hundreds of men and boys to do them.

By ten o'clock in the morning everything is in readiness for the show and parade.

Almost every circus claims to have a show that cannot be duplicated, and an aggregation of performers the like of which cannot be brought together, but the fact is that every circus of any consequence has a double force and a double equipment.

There are really two circus troops which have to travel about. The leapers are liable to injury. A sprained ankle will put one of the best performers out and there must be a man to take his place. Possibly the substitute will make as great a hit as the regular. Even the performing horses have their substitutes.

It is a fact not generally known the Robinson show carries two complete large canvases. In case one is destroyed by fire or storm another must be ready to put up. When a failure to give a performance entails a loss of from $10,000 to $20,000 for expenses the matter becomes serious.

Even the men who put up the canvas can be duplicated on short notice. The big circus will exhibit at Mt. Sterling Thursday, July 10th.

Balance in Treasury.

State Treasurer Edward Farley's books at the end of the fiscal year, June 30, show a balance in the State treasury of $123,379.60, which is over $100,000 less than last year.

The balances for the last four years show a gradual decrease and he wants to know if "this thing keeps up where we will end?"

If you haven't the time to exercise regularly, Doan's Regulets will prevent constipation. They induce a mild, easy, healthful action of the bowels without gripping. Ask your druggist for them. 25c. 51-5

Available Timber Supply Diminishing.

Charles H. Ronan is purchasing agent for the Illinois Central road, with headquarters at Jackson, Ky. His business carries him over a large part of the mountains. He is of the opinion that that section of the mountains adjacent to Lexington is being pretty well worked out of timber.

The deplorable part of it is that no care is being taken for a reproduction of the forests, and that in a few years when the supply is exhausted there will be little to attract capital to that section of the country.

Turkeys Dying.

Jack Taylor, Briar Hill, Ky., says: "Bourbon Poultry Cure is the only remedy I have ever used that will cure turkey diseases. I gave my turkeys a few doses when they were dying and it speedily cured them." Sold by W. S. Lloyd.

Senator Joseph B. Foraker in a speech at Cincinnati praised Taft for his high character, but added that he had a fatal weakness in that he stands for the Roosevelt policies, of which Mr. Foraker said the country already had too much.

DR. WILLIS

Becomes Superintendent of Lexington Asylum—Is Shackled By No Promises.

DR. REDWINE LEAVES FOR JACKSON HOME.

Dr. R. L. Willis Wednesday morning entered upon his duties as superintendent of the Asylum at Lexington.

He goes into office bound by no promise. The doctor said that he has been instructed by Governor Willson to keep the management of the asylum absolutely out of politics.

"As a consequence of this conference with the Governor," said the doctor, "there will be no removals on account of politics and no man who has filled his place properly will be removed. The only cause for dismissal will be incompetency."

Dr. J. S. Redwine closed eight years and more of service as Superintendent of the Asylum. He and his family left for his former home at Jackson, Ky.

There are at the present time between 950 and 900 patients in the institution. Those required to attend to the wants of these patients is the medical superintendent, his three assistants and one hundred and thirty attendants and other employees.

Dr. Redwine was presented with a beautiful silver set consisting of knives, forks and spoons by the white assistants and attendants as a token of their high regard for him.

The nine negro attendants presented him with a gold pen.

Most disfiguring skin eruptions, scrofula, pimples, rashes, etc., are due to impure blood. Burdock Blood Bitters is a cleansing blood tonic. Makes you clear-eyed, clear-brained, clear-skinned. 51-5

Killed 22 Men in 11 Years.

O. F. Hamilton is an engineer on the Big Four running from St. Louis to Mattoon. In eleven years he has killed twenty-two men, and each one he has struck while running sixty miles an hour. For a number of years Mr. Hamilton ran the Alton Flyer from Alton to St. Louis. Many men were killed during this run.

Saves Child—Babe Falls Into Cistern.

At St. James, Mo., while playing near a cistern, Imogene Cragle, four years old, fell in. No ladder was available. Joe Mills and Joe Sawyers grasped Louis Fitzgerald by the ankles and let him down into the well, other men holding them. The child was rescued as she was sinking.

Maine Republicans For Prohibition.

Bert M. Fernald was nominated for Governor of Maine by the Republican State convention. The platform adopted has this plank on prohibition:

"We believe in prohibition and demand the faithful and impartial enforcement of the prohibitory law and are opposed to resubmission of any measure tending to the repeal of the law."

The committee of physicians which was appointed by the Mayor to make plans for a new city hospital for Louisville recommended a structure to cost something like $750,000. Action was deferred until the beginning of the next fiscal year, September 1.

The best thing you can do is to do your best.

THE REASON

MERCHANTS FAIL.

Statistics Prove That. Business Success Comes to But One Merchant in Ten.

The average person is surprised to learn that only one merchant in ten makes a success in retail merchandising, but this act is proven by statistics and admits of no dispute. This condition has called forth much thought and comment from analysts and the result of their investigations have led to but one conclusion. That too many merchants fail to properly appreciate the relation which should exist between a retailer and his customers.

The successful business is founded on the "square deal" policy and the farther a business steers from that course the more distant is permanent success. Short-sighted policy and a prevalence of "get-rich-quick" methods may succeed temporarily, but permanent success comes only as a reward for having deserved it.

The Saturday Evening Post recently printed a symposium of opinions on this subject under the title of "The Golden Rule in Business" to which the successful merchants of the world contributed, and it is a note-worthy fact that the practically unanimous opinion expressed was that the Golden Rule and business could, and should, walk hand in hand.

The merchant who pays his good money for advertising space and fills it with promises that he does not expect to fill is inviting disaster, and the present-day tendency of exaggerating values is another potent reason for a lack of public confidence. Too many merchants fail to give the customer credit for being a judge of values and labor under the impression that its good business policy to mark a $4.00 article up to $6.00, then reduce it to $4.25 during the sale times.

A business directory published ten years ago would show only a few names which are now familiar to buyers, and a twenty-year-old directory might easily be mistaken for the directory of another city for all the names you might recognize today.

Stamping Ground Destroyed By Fire.

During a thunderstorm Thursday morning a fire started in the Raynor Hotel at Stamping Ground and spread to the Buffalo Springs Distillery and the business section of the town.

Lexington, Paris and Frankfort fire departments were called on for aid. Stamping Ground is in Scott county, near Frankfort.

Political Headquarters.

William H. Taft, the Presidential nominee, has established his personal headquarters at the home of his brother in Cincinnati, and has announced that he will spend most of his time from now until after the election there. All news emanating from him and all information concerning his movements will be given out there.

The National Republican Campaign Committee will establish its headquarters in the Sinton Hotel that city, the half of one entire floor of this mammoth hostelry having been engaged for that purpose.

Judge Judson Harmon, Democratic nominee for Governor of Ohio, has established his headquarters in Cincinnati and the Campaign Committee will have its principal office there.

Even a shallow man may get deep in debt.

DAMAGE BY STORM.

Heavy Wind Swoops Down On Lexington Wednesday Night.

A severe wind and electrical storm passed over the city of Lexington Wednesday night and much damage was done. The main belt of the storm seemed to approach from a southeasterly direction and that part of the city about Ashland avenue suffered most.

Telephone and telegraph wires and poles on the street were broken by the falling trunks of trees and in some instances trees were uprooted. Back of the house of W. P. Fishback on Ashland avenue, a huge tree whose trunk measured four and one-half feet in diameter, fell with a crash directly across Mr. Fishback's stable. In the stable at the time was a horse and buggy and the tree fell directly across the stall in which the horse is kept. The horse was caught under the debris and remained there until about 9 o'clock Thursday morning. On going to the stable Mr. Fishback found that the only part of the horse not entirely caught under the debris was his head, and that the animal was still alive. The animal did not struggle when efforts were made to free him and Mr. Fishback succeeded in extricating it. A buggy was crushed to pieces.

An incident which appears almost providential connected with the happening is the fact that Mr. Fishback's house-boy is in the habit of sleeping in a room prepared for him in the stable. For some reason or other the lad did not sleep in his accustomed place, but went to his own home, otherwise he would likely have been killed.

The entire eastern portion of the city shows the effect of the storm, while the damage done will be considerable.

New Officials Receive Friends at Custom House.

All kinds of parties, receptions and pink teas were held in the Custom House at Louisville Wednesday as attendant features of the installation which marked the induction to office of Major A. T. Wood of this city, as Pension Agent, and the installation of J. Frank Taylor, as Surveyor of Customs.

Surrounded by the staff of the Surveyor's office, J. Frank Taylor, the newly appointed official, received his commission and took the formal oath. Judge W. C. Dearing, resigned, presented his commission to Mr. Taylor and made a short speech in which he showered words of praise upon the official staff, who so ably assisted him in his duties as Surveyor.

In his office in the pension division the ceremonies attending Major Wood's installation were no less impressive. The bevy of feminine clerks in the pension office were witnesses to the ceremony and manifested much interest in proceedings. After these ceremonies were completed the two officials were showered with congratulations by their friends who visited them in their offices the remainder of the day.

His Theory.

"I'm thinking of running for Congress," said the village lawyer. "Will you vote for me?"

"No, sir," answered Farmer Cortossel. "I'm in favor of letting the present Congressmen stay where they are. There's no good of continually takin' men and gettin' 'em out of the habit of hard work 'n then bringin' 'em back home agin."—Washington Star.

A GOOD REASON.

Mt. Sterling People Can Tell You Why It Is So.

Doan's Kidney Pills cure the cause of disease, and that is why the cures are always lasting. This remedy strengthens and tones up the kidneys, helping them to drive out of the body the liquid poisons that cause backache, headache and distressing kidney and urinary complaints. Mt. Sterling people testify to permanent cures.

Mrs. H. J. Porter, living at 64 Richmond Ave., Mt. Sterling, Ky., says: "I know that Doan's Kidney Pills can cure kidney trouble as my husband used them for four years and they entirely cured him. He had suffered from an aggravated case of backache and an aching through his limbs caused him misery. Doan's Kidney Pills were recommended to him. He procured a box at F. C. Duerson's drug store, and they benefited him so much that he continued taking them until cured. I have known of other people who have used Doan's Kidney Pills and I can recommend them as a valuable kidney remedy."

8 Deaths From Excessive Heat.

Eight deaths attributed to the excessive heat were reported before 11 o'clock Thursday morning in New York, at which hour the temperature was 83 degrees and still rising.

Old Man Walked Hundreds of Miles.

Tired, hungry and footsore, Joseph Meyer, eighty-nine years of age and a veteran of two wars, who walked all the way from Brooklyn, W. Va., arrived in New Albany Wednesday on his way to Evansville, where he wants to go to spend the remainder of his days with his daughter.

During the Mexican war Meyer served in the First Indiana Infantry and he served in the Twenty-second Indiana Infantry in the Civil war. Shortly after the close of the latter war he located in Virginia, where he had lived for forty years. Since he has become too old to work he decided to go to the home of his daughter to live.

Just before he was ready to start on the journey his trunk, containing $180, all the money he had, was stolen and he decided to make the journey on foot.

Pure Food Law in Effect.

The Federal pure food law in relation to whisky is now in effect. All Government gaugers must brand all heads of barrels into which mixtures, blends or compounds are drawn with the prescribed words of "blend," "compound" or "imitation." The straight whisky distillers will continue labeling their product "whisky."

Found Dead In Bed.

Silas Roberts, aged 65, a well-to-do farmer of Madison county, was found dead in bed early Wednesday morning. Heart trouble caused his death.

The more justice some men get the less they want to talk about it.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

FOR CONGRESS.
 We are authorized to announce G. LEE WAINSCOTT, of Winchester, a candidate for Congress in this the Tenth District, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

Morality and sobriety are great assets in any private citizen or public representative.

Does the editor of the Courier-Journal wish to drive out of the Democratic party men who think that the legalized saloon is a menace to the peace, happiness and life of a county?

Note well the necessary qualifications for a school trustee to be elected on the first Saturday in August. He must be able to read and write and this fact must be certified to by five reputable citizens. Men have in some cases been elected to this important position, not because of their qualification for efficient service, but because of promises to employ certain teachers. See New School Law for Electing Trustees.

Henry Watterson says that a Prohibitionist cannot be a Democrat. He uses these words in opposing the demand for local option laws. His influence is evidently exerted in behalf of the whiskey interests of the State. He is opposed to a county unit bill. We do not deny his right to give or sell his space in upholding the organized liquor interest, but we are surprised that an intelligent man who occupies the position he does should line up with a business that results in crime, poverty and shame. We hope new light will dawn upon him.

CONGRESSIONAL RACE.

The race in this district for Democratic nomination appears to attract little attention. County conventions will be held on Saturday and district convention at East Springs on Wednesday, 15th. We hope the nominee will embody such traits and qualifications as will merit support and add much to prospect for election. Unless there is a Democratic landslide for Mr. Bryan (the assured nominee for President) the Democratic nominee for Congress in this district must be a hustler and poll the full vote if he is to be elected.

BRYAN SENTIMENT

OVERWHELMS HIS OPPONENTS.

Denver, Col., July 6.—Above the hubbub of this last strenuous day before the National Democratic Convention these developments stand prominent:

The wave of Bryan sentiment has increased to apparently overwhelming and irresistible proportions and the nomination of the Nebraska seems now assured beyond any reasonable doubt.

All efforts to unite on a Vice President have proved futile.

The New School Law for Electing Trustees.

The new law in regard to electing trustees is as follows:

On the first Saturday in August, 1908, an election shall be held at the school building in each school district of this Commonwealth from the hours of one until five o'clock in the afternoon for the purpose of electing one trustee for each school district, both colored and white. The trustees then elected shall hold their offices, one-half for one year and one-half for two years, as shall be determined by lot at the first meeting of the division board. Each year thereafter there shall be elected for two years one trustee in each school district in which the term of his predecessor in office will then expire. Said trustees shall serve until their successors are duly elected or appointed and qualified.

Any person shall be eligible to this office of school trustee who is over twenty-one years of age, and who has been a resident of the district for which he is elected for sixty days before the election, and who is able to read and write, as shown by a certificate of five reputable citizens of the district, and all male persons over twenty-one years of age, who shall have resided in the school district for sixty days next before an election, shall have the right to vote at such election.

All elections for school trustees shall be by ballot. Said ballot shall contain no emblem nor device of any kind by which it may be identified or known, and the ballot shall be printed and furnished by the County Clerk of each county and paid for out of the county levy. But said ballot shall provide blank spaces whereby such electors may vote for or elect another than those whose names are printed upon said ballot.

All nominations for school trustees shall be by petition, signed by at least ten persons eligible to vote in elections for such trustees, and no name shall be placed upon any ballot unless such nominating petition is filed with the County Clerk of the county in which such election is held at least ten days prior to the date of such election.

The officers of said election shall be a clerk and two judges, and shall be appointed by the regular election commissioners in each county and shall receive no compensation for their services.

The said officers shall be the judges of the qualification of each voter as prescribed in this act, and shall certify the returns of the election to the County Superintendent of Schools within five days after said election.

M. J. GOODWIN,
 County Superintendent of Schools.

O'Connell to Lose Out.

A special from Frankfort says that sometime this month the last two Democratic officials in the Clerk's office of the Court of Appeals will lose out. W. B. O'Connell, the chief clerk, who has held on under Clerk Napier Adams, will, it is said, be succeeded by Attorney J. R. Cook, of Somerset, and Miss Jessie Roberts, the stenographer, will be succeeded by Miss Pearl Nell, of Frankfort. No official announcement has been made by Mr. Adams of these changes, but there is no doubt about the correctness of the story.

Political.

The Republican State Central Committee is in session to-day at Louisville.

There were 87 deaths and 63 births in Louisville last week.

FACTS AND OBSERVATIONS

Powell County Coming to the Front—Some Facts About the College.

The writer went to Stanton on Thursday afternoon, July 2, spent the night at the hotel kept by the Boone sisters and returned on Friday night.

Previously we have referred to the College which was to be established. The prospective is now a reality. A laudable public spirit animated some of the citizens of Stanton and vicinity. They went to work for better conditions in educational matters; they made an opportunity and likewise grasped one. Generations yet to come will rise to call them blessed, a new enterprise will add to the culture, capacity and social, religious and financial awakening of a people. In September STANTON COLLEGE will open its doors to the youth of Powell and surrounding counties. Under the auspices of the Home Board of the United Presbyterian Church (headquarters in Pittsburgh, Pa.) this college now begins a career of, we hope, uninterrupted and increasing usefulness, encouraged by the united and loyal support of every citizen of Powell county who loves his county, his family and his God. On July 1 Prof. R. A. McConagha, of New Concord, O., arrived in Stanton. He is to be principal of Stanton College. He is a young man (did not ask his age) unmarried, of pleasing address and sociable. He is a graduate of Muskingum College, of New Concord, and of Xenia Theological Seminary, and has had seven years experience as a teacher.

His plans for the fall session are not yet made; the corps of teachers will, however, number about 6, including Mrs. Sylvia Russell, of Stanton, who has taught for years and is popular with the patrons. It is hoped to effect a consolidation of the Stanton public school with the College.

Later we shall be pleased to speak more definitely of the curriculum.

THE COLLEGE BUILDING.

At the hotel we met Mr. R. W. Hamilton, of Pittsburg, Pa., the contractor, who is erecting the college. The structure is a two story brick with a base full size; dimensions 62x95 feet, the front entrance is of white brick, there will be a front balcony. For class work there are 6 rooms; 4 on 1st floor, 2 on second; each 24x32. The auditorium on second floor is 40x60 feet and by means of roller partition can be enlarged to 60x70.

The building will be modern in all its appointments, heated by steam and furnished for lighting by natural gas, well ventilated, and has fire escapes.

We were not definitely informed of the details, but were convinced by what we saw that the institution has come to stay. The roof will be of slag (pitch and gravel.) Sitting on a stack of sheathing on roof we talked with the contractor.

The view, from the roof, of extensive valley and surrounding hills is very charming. The building is located in a 10 acre campus, on elevated ground beyond and to right of depot going east on Lexington & Eastern railroad, and will be ready for occupancy when the fall term opens. The estimated cost is $16,000. The citizens of Powell raised $4,000 for this work.

The expense incurred by the Home Board having control of the enterprise is but a small part of the obligations assumed; for there must be the annual appropriation for teachers, etc., until the school is self supporting. Judging from the experience of similar schools, the indications are that this amount will be continuous for years.

A DEBT OF GRATITUDE.

When and how can the people of Powell show their appreciation of the noble and unselfish work assumed by the Home Board at Pittsburg? The people of Powell must by their action show.

They will permit us to suggest. Let everybody be enthusiastic. Let no croakers or growlers arise. Place no hindrances in the way. Give the enterprise your best wishes, hearty co-operation and LIBERAL offerings of MONEY; patronize it, get students from all the county, make conditions such that success will come, tell strangers about the school, show visitors the grounds and buildings, etc., tell or write the promoters how you appreciate their efforts.

The Home Board has done much for POWELL COUNTY. POWELL COUNTY should show their gratitude by unmistakable evidences. Let precinct boundaries and prejudices be eliminated. Let all work together for the common good.

See to it men that the laws are enforced and obeyed, that evil influences which trap boys and girls are removed, that conditions are such that to be and do good are easy. Let righteousness and sobriety and morality prevail. Such will aid the College and the College will foster these and other noble traits. Success to you.

These voluntary and free words are a further expression of our interest in the people of Powell. We have advocated temperance in your bounds, we plead for HIGHER educational standards.

KEEN IN BUSINESS

ANCIENTS NOT INFERIOR TO TRAINED MEN OF TO-DAY.

Tablets Found in Ruins of Babylon
Cast Insight into Life of Old
Community That is Most Interesting.

That among the ancient Babylonians, 3,000 years B. C., there were lawyers of rare ability, real estate men of more than ordinary shrewdness in driving and clinching a bargain and craftsmen with great ingenuity and pride in their work is the opinion of Eugene F. Ware, lawyer, poet and "Kansan."

In an address before the real estate men of Kansas City some time ago Mr. Ware made the statement that as long as 5,000 years ago men were dealing in real estate and that those men were as energetic traders and as keen in their transactions as the real estate dealers of to-day, says the Kansas City Star.

Mr. Ware explained the result of his research into the history of the Babylonians which has caused him to form this opinion. While traveling in Europe several years ago he came upon a number of clay tablets at the Louvre in Paris. The tablets are specimens uncovered by excavators who were searching for records of the ancient Babylonians. Several thousand of them have been found in the city of Nippur, capital of the ancient Babylonian state of that name. Nippur was one of the largest cities of Babylon, situated on the banks of a canal connecting the Tigris and Euphrates rivers. The city was famous as the seat of worship of the god Bel, chief deity of the Babylonian pantheon.

A tablet owned by Mr. Ware is a replica of one in the Louvre. It resembles nothing so much as a cake of toilet soap. In color it is pure white and is covered with letters of the cuneiform alphabet. The Babylonians used tablets similar to the one owned by Mr. Ware for all their writing, and on these recorded deeds, leases and other real estate transactions. The tablets were made of white clay very much like that used by modern sculptors. They varied in size from specimens as small as a pea to others the size of a basket. They were made by men who probably occupied the same position in the Babylonian business world as our modern public stenographers do. A lawyer would go to one of these scribes on the street corners, dictate his brief to him and the "stenographer in clay" would write on the tablet with a three-cornered stick. The tablet was then baked in a charcoal oven and was ready for use. The writing on the tablets was first translated by Sir Henry Rawlinson in 1854.

The tablet owned by Mr. Ware records a transaction between a jeweler and a real estate man. The real estate man purchased a tablet with an emerald from the jeweler and the tablet records the sale and contains the jeweler's guaranty of the ring for 20 years.

Sagging at Shoulders.
Are you letting your shoulders sag a bit at the shoulders? Don't. If you want to keep either young or well, there is nothing so fatally easy as to grow round-shouldered. Keep a sharp watch on yourself to prevent this. Each morning stand up against the jamb of a door and see if you have begun to sag. Also walk around your room each day with a piece of broomstick or short umbrella under each arm and brought across the back. This keeps the chest up and head well poised.

Deep breathing exercises, whenever you think of them, will help ward off those round shoulders. Making a practice to walk with the chest up. This last is the simplest of all preventives, for if it is always practised the rest will follow.

Useful Remodeling Suggestions.
Have you a last year's white linen suit which requires only a few new little touches to make it suitable for this summer? If so, follow one of the latest ideas from Paris, and introduce a bit of color by using colored cretonne for the trimming. Just a touch of it will be sufficient. Perhaps you will need to make only a new set of cuffs, and possibly an adjustable shawl collar, which may be worn or removed at your pleasure.

Then, again, you could introduce a renovating touch in your linen skirt-and-coat suit merely by changing the buttons. If your suit happened to have large pearl buttons last season, rip them off, buy some molds and cover them with cretonne.

Whose Fault?
We talk so much, and we think so much more, of the trouble we have with others, that we more than half persuade ourselves that if everybody else were just right, we could get on easily in life, but the fact is that more than half of all our troubles, even of our troubles with others, grow out of our own faults and our own failures and not the faults and failures of other people. Until we rid ourselves of all selfish thought of ourselves, there is constant trouble for us, however other people bear themselves.—Home Chat.

MISS McNAMARA WINS HERALD'S ATLANTIC CITY TRIP

Defeating Nearest Competitor By More Than Seventeen Thousand Votes.

In the Lexington Herald's Atlantic City vacation trip, which closed July 1, Miss Gertrude McNamara, of this city, was an easy winner from the district composed of Montgomery, Bath and Morgan counties, receiving 60,020 votes to 42,400 for her nearest competitor, Miss Lillie Faulkner, of Camel City. Miss McNamara is a lovely and deservedly popular young lady and the large vote she received shows the high regard in which she is held by those who know her best.

Sunday School Convention.

The Montgomery County Convention of the Kentucky Sunday School Association will be held on August 27, 1908, with the Camargo Christian Church. The Sunday Schools of all the churches in this county are invited and expected to co-operate in this one day convention for the betterment of the Sunday School. Plan now to attend. See programs later. Will not the churches of Mt. Sterling follow suit? Take a census of the church and Sunday School status of the inhabitants of this city. If properly planned and carried out the work can be done in a few hours. Then our ministers, superintendents and church workers would have definite work before them, and there would be no need of wasted energy. Who will start it? Will you, or another?

THRILLING EXPERIENCE. Swollen Creek Catches Young Man and Two Lady Friends.

On Wednesday afternoon Mr. Jno. McDonald, clerk for Chenault & Orear, drove to Oil Springs to accompany Misses Fannie and Rose Wilson home to this city. Enroute he had to cross Lullburgud. As he crossed going out the stream was very low. Before he returned a heavy rain storm prevailed and converted the branch into a dangerous torrent. Not realizing the depth, force and danger of the stream he drove in. Horse, buggy and occupants were washed down. The night was dark because of the terrific storm. Vivid lightning revealed their surroundings. Mr. McDonald was fortunate to grasp both young ladies and as they drifted the current carried them near the bank and he succeeded in rescuing both after drifting 15 to 20 feet. As soon as he could get assistance the horse and buggy were saved.

Our sale will continue until we notify you through this paper. Everything until then at cut prices. Walsh Bros.

Thinking of Moving West?

If not, then make up your mind and write me for descriptive list of farms in Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma, all fine, level, productive land that will grow anything under the sun, at prices ranging from $15 to $40 an acre, and come where life is made tolerable by easy, profitable farming. Why sweat and fret life away in the vain effort to eke out a mere miserable sustenance from those rock-ribbed, root-bared hillsides as your father and father's father did, when there is so much good land to be had yet awhile for a mere song? Get out of the rut—break away from the time-worn habit that keeps your nose to the grindstone. All it takes is resolution and a little nerve. Write me and let me help you to a better condition.

Peary's Party Sailed Monday For North Pole.

Commander Peary, the Arctic explorer, will make another attempt to find the north pole. The staunch steamer, Roosevelt, which carried him on the latest expedition Monday began her northward voyage from New York.

Commander Peary will go by rail to join his party at Sydney, Cape Breton.

Peary's plan aside from expectation of placing the stars and stripes at the north pole, include researches into the north coasts of Greenland and Grantland. He will follow practically the same route as on previous trip.

Eskimos and dogs will be taken aboard in the whale region and will endeavor to force the Roosevelt to the same winter quarters as in the winter of 1905-06.

Itching piles provoke profanity, but profanity won't cure them. Don's Ointment cures itching, bleeding or protruding piles after years of suffering. At any drug store. 51-5f.

Fine Shooting.

Capt. Jackson Morris, Assistant Secretary of State, has made the highest score ever made in Kentucky on a rifle range at 800 yards, putting nine out of ten balls into the bullseye. When he made his record, he fired twelve shots and eleven of them hit the center. A bullseye counts 5 and a shot in the next ring counts 4. Capt. Morris fired two shots to get the range and measure the wind. He made bullseyes each time. He then started for a record. On the first shot he made a 4 and the next nine were bullseyes.

The McCormick Vertical Lift Mower

The main frame of the McCormick is cast in one piece, making the strongest frame used in any Mower. It will cut through the heaviest and toughest grass without choking. This machine is specially designed for use in the field where there are stumps and stones or other obstructions, as the cutter bar can be lifted to an upright position by means of the hand lever.

AIRSHIPS

SWISS MACHINE GREAT SUCCESS

Guided Baloon At Will For Half A Day.

AVERAGE SPEED 34 MILES AN HOUR.

Friedrichshafen, July 1.—Count Zeppelin today outdistanced all records for steerable balloons. He remained in the air twelve hours, traversed the greater part of Northern Switzerland and visited Zurich, Winterthur and Lucerne, attaining an average speed of 34 miles an hour. His airship displayed splendid qualities of dirigibility and answered the slightest movement of the hand.

In the most desirable weather the airship manned by a crew of 14, left its floating home on Lake Constance at 8:30 this morning.

At 1 o'clock the airship came in to view at Lucerne, and thousands greeted her with loud cheering. With the greatest precision, Count Zeppelin guided his airship on a long series of evolutions, circles, the figure eight, sharp turns, descents.

By 6:30 o'clock in the evening the airship had again reached Lake Constance.

The greatest altitude reached was 2,500 feet, and the distance covered 220 miles as the crow flies.

The Agricultural Department Bureau of Statistics estimates that from 81 to 83 per cent. of the corn crop is now used for feed purposes in the United States; but that 80 per cent. of it is shipped out of the countries in which it is grown. If these latter figures are correct there is room for wide improvement in farm management, home feeding and keeping the fertility on the farm.

Boy's Life Saved.

My little boy, four years old, had a severe attack of dysentery. We had two physicians; both of them gave him up. We then gave him Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea remedy which cured him and believe that saved his life.

—William H. Stirling, Carbon Hill, Ala. There is no doubt but this remedy saves the lives of many children each year. Give it with castor oil according to the plain printed directions and a cure is certain. For sale by R. H. White & Co., Druggists.

Protection and care of animals in summer as well as in winter will repay the owner many fold. In Holland they put canvas covering over the backs of cows to protect them from flies. As a result the cow instead of tossing her head and tail in vain effort, gives her time and energy to eating and ruminating, with the advantage of a larger flow and a better quality of milk.

At Louisville George Bramblett was awarded $2,100 from the estate of the late Judge James Hargis. He paid a debt for the Judge during the latter's life, but Mrs. Hargis resisted payment.

During a family quarrel in Shelby county M. C. Roberts assaulted his son-in-law, Jarvey Brock, with an ax, and Brock shot Roberts six times.

It is reported that most of the "rats" worn by women are made of hair cut from the heads of dead Chinamen. And women pay money for the "rats," too.

LINE AT THE RECEPTION.

and Story of Unfortunate Young Man and Busy Ladies.

The anemic young man with the intellectual face hadn't wanted to go to the reception any of the time, but the fell clutch of circumstances had so lightened that the fatal afternoon found him at the reception line.

"Mrs. Smith," chirped the hostess, "allow me to present Mr. Montmorency."

"How do you do? Lovely day, isn't it? Mrs. Jones, this is Mr. Ranchy."

"Excuse me," began the young man, who was rather astounded at his own name; but Mrs. Jones was already beyond human interference.

"I'm so glad to meet you. Are you related to the explorer? Mrs. Brown, let me present Mr. Nansen."

"So glad. Nice weather, isn't it? Do you know, one really needs a parol. Miss Smith, this is Mr. Hansen."

"You'll pardon me, but my name is—"

"Oh, I don't think it's peculiar at all. Mr. Johnson, Mr. Pate."

"I was just going to say," began the desperate young man, when the lady shook a warning finger at him.

"That were the original bad boy. Your young men are so dreadfully wicked these days. Gratitude—Gratitude, come here, dear—this is Mr. Peck."

He gritted his teeth, but the matter was past help.

"I'm glad to meet you," said the Sweet Young Thing. "Won't you come into the dining room and have some coffee? I don't believe I quite caught your name—Mr. Peckles, isn't it?"

Persons of a sensitive nature will appreciate how it pleased the young man some 15 minutes later when he expired, after partaking of a dish of very green ice cream.—Puck.

SMALL FORTUNES IN FLOWERS.

Valuable Orchids at the Temple Flower Show in London.

With a footman by his side, a quietly dressed, elderly little man stood scanning eagerly an insignificant little cluster of purplish petals in the amazing bank of orchids at the Temple flower show—a bank which is worth $750,000 and is guarded night and day by detectives with as much care and anxiety as the bank in Threepenny street.

"How much," inquired the little man, "do you want for this odontoglossum?"

"Three thousand dollars," replied the attendant. A closer, keener inspection of the modest little tuft of blossom; then "Send it to this address," ordered the little man, handing the owner his card.

It was estimated that since the opening of the show something like $200,000 worth of orchids have been disposed of on the spot.

One specimen exhibited by Messrs. Hugh Low & Co. is something of a little comedian in its way. It is called Hubbububulum, Harbigerium, and it trembles at the approach of man. This orchid is purchasable for $35.

Always Prepared.

Bentley, the Greek scholar, always had his pockets stuffed with editions of the ancient classics. Once, while traveling, he met a stranger who in a really short time, off his familiarity with Greek and Latin. Presently the man referred to a passage in Homer. Bentley denied that such a verse existed. The stranger insisted, and Bentley pulled a Homer from his pocket and asked his acquaintance to find the disputed line. The stranger falling, changed the topic to Euripides. Bentley corrected him, and proved himself right by consulting a pocket Euripides.

The conversation shifting to Aeschylus, Bentley produced a three-volume Aeschylus from his overcoat pocket, when his antagonist collapsed. "Great heavens!" he cried, "whoever expected to find a man with the whole Bodleian library in his pocket?"

No Rash Answer.

Mr. Oscar Asche was once playing on a Scottish stage, with a caddie of the taciturn type in attendance. After a series of strokes which were more energetic than effective, the player got in a really home clock shot, and, turning to the caddie, exclaimed: "There! I'm not the worst player you've ever carried for, am I?" The bearer of clubs vouchsafed no response save a non-committal grunt.

Presently another good shot was safely accomplished, and again the great actor cried exultantly: "I said before that I'm not the worst player you've ever carried for and you didn't reply. I want an answer." The caddie maintained an obstinate silence for a moment or two and then growled: "Man, I'm just thinkin'!"—Free Lance.

CAUSED A RUMPU

STORY OF ONE SMALL DOG AND ONE UMBRELLA

Mrs. McIntosh's Absent-Mindedness and Puppy's Ability for Making Trouble Slightly Disturbed the Peaceful Congregation.

We had a little excitement in our church a few Sundays ago. Mrs. McIntosh is remarkable for her singular absence of mind. Dr. Potts, the preacher, was reading from the Scriptures the account of the deluge, and when he came to the story of how it rained for so many days and nights Mrs. McIntosh became so deeply absorbed in the narrative, and so strongly impressed with it that she involuntarily put up her umbrella and held it over her head as she sat in the pew.

Mrs. Butterworth, who sits in the next pew in front, always brings her dog to church with her, and when Mrs. McIntosh suddenly raised her umbrella the action affected the sensibilities of Mrs. Butterworth's dog in such a manner that he began to bark furiously. Then the sexton came in and tried to remove the animal, but it dodged into a vacant pew on the other side of the aisle and defied him, barking all the time most vociferously.

Then the sexton became indignant and flung a hymn book at the dog, whereupon the dog flew into the air and hit him on the leg. The hubbub in the church was by this time, of course, something simply amazing. Then Deacon Jones was the story of the deluge interrupted, but the wicked boys in the gallery actually "sicked" the dog at the sexton, and seemed to enjoy the contest exceedingly.

Then Deacon Jones came after the dog with his walking stick; whereupon the animal actually dashed toward the pulpit, and ran up the steps in such a fierce manner that Dr. Potts all at once mounted on the chair to get out of the way of the dog, and he said that if this disgraceful scene did not come to an end he should shortly resign the congregation. Then Deacon Jones went up the steps, and after a short struggle he seized the dog by the hind leg and dashed down the aisle with him, the dog protesting while yelping with supernatural energy.

Mrs. McIntosh turned around to watch the receding dog, and as she did so she perceived her umbrella to droop over so that the end of one of the ribs caught in Mrs. Butterworth's dress. A minute later, when she pulled up the umbrella, the bonnet was wrenched off and hung dangling from the umbrella. Mrs. Butterworth had become exceedingly angry at any rate, over the incident, and she might have made a scene against her dog, but when Mrs. McIntosh removed her bonnet she fairly boiled over and, turning around with wild rage, she screamed:

"What did you grab that bonnet for, you green-eyed catamount? Ain't you made enough fuss in this year tolerable today skowling at poor innocent dog, without snatching off such bonnets as the likes of you can't afford to wear, no matter how gray you are, you red-headed imbecile. You mount up your bonnets alone, or I'll warn you with this parasol, even if it is in meeting, now mind me!"

Then Mrs. McIntosh seemed to realize that her umbrella made her conspicuous, so she hurried it and concluded to go home. And as she started up the aisle Mrs. Butterworth gave her this parting salute:

"Snooking off before the collection, eh? You'd better apologize for your sneaky and give more for the poor brethren, as if you don't want to catch it here!"

Then she began to fan herself furiously, and as things became calmer Dr. Potts resumed the story of the flood.

Mrs. McIntosh has moved into a back yard, and because the deacons requested Mrs. Butterworth to leave her dog at home she has succeeded from the Presbyterian, and she declares that the Lutheran faith is the only religion for her—N. Y. Weekly.

Curious Almshouse.
The most curious almshouse in England is St. Mary's hospital at Bichester. There eight old ladies live actually in the church, a fine building dating from 1580. It was originally a monastery, but Queen Elizabeth turned it into an almshouse to endure as long as almshouses exist. The old ladies have two neat little rooms each down the sides of the main church, with windows looking out on the garden. They each have a coal supply, a kitchen range, and a fire. At a chapel daily services are held. The choir stalls are beautifully carved oak, the original seats that the monks used.

Stringing Her.
"That's queer," said Miss Gull, puzzling over the city directory. "I'm sure that's the name Mr. Kidder gave me, but I can't find it."

"What's that?" asked Miss Chumley.

"Why, we were talking about fortune tellers and he said the best and surest one in town was named Bradstreet, but I can't find her at all."

An Adept at It.

The art photographer had visited the farm.

"I want to make an exhaustive study of this particular bit of landscape," he said, "and would like to have your head man reveal his present position as the fence there."

"For days at a time," replied the farmer.

TRADE THAT WAS CALLED OFF

Minister's Really Good Reason for Not Purchasing Horses.

"I saw an instance recently," remarked Senator Carter of Montana, one of the ways to get along with Indians when it comes to a horse deal. One of the missionaries who makes occasional excursions into the Crow country by way of getting on friendly terms with the tribe, commissioned two of the men to get him a swift, strong and presentable riding horse, and he stipulated that he would pay a hundred dollars for the kind of horse described. The braves soon appeared with a horse, swift, strong and a splendid looking animal, but also so vicious that he had to be clubbed all the time to insensibility before he would be saddled. Then the Indians folded him to get on the bridge.

"The missionary looked on, anything, but edified by the conduct of the braves and force of temper of the horse. Still, the Indians insisted that they had brought the horse described and they demanded the hundred. The missionary was a little puzzled, but the horse could go like the wind, the rider ran the risk of having his neck broken before he was dismounted. More than that, the missionary was a white man as well as a brave, he finished tearfully. 'How can I blindfold the horse whenever I want to mount?' The Indians replied that all he had to do was to take off his shirt and tie it over the horse's head. 'But conceive,' said the man, 'God, how I would look being compelled to take off my shirt every time I got on the horse. Why, you Indians say that I am an angel, and that the Crow thought it over and finally gave up on the ground that it would not be seemly for the preacher to have to take off his garment to put on his horse. So, the deal was off amicably.'

Recipe for Oratory.

Representative Hubson, at the end of a brilliant speech on naval armament, was congratulated on his oratory.

"What is your recipe for good oratory?" a reporter asked him. "I am afraid oratory comes natural," was the reply. "There is, though one recipe for it, old Job Walmsby's, but it is hardly satisfactory."

"The wants to be a public speaker, don't he, lad?" Job, in his Yorkshire drawl, would say. "Ain't that right?" "Yes, sir," said the other. "Ain't that right?" "That's right, I am. Now, hark that. When the rises to speak, he says, 'I want to talk a sup o' water, an' I'll talk again. Then open thy mouth wider than after. Then, if now comes, say 'thyself off, and leave public speaker to such as me.'"

One of World's Workers.

According to the official reports there are 31,198 public school in Germany, attended by 9,729,356 pupils, or 94 percent of all German children of school age, leaving only one percent of all other schools, including home training. Since 1901 the school attendance shows an increase of 9.1 percent. During the same time the population show an increase of 10.6 percent, and female teachers an increase of 30.5 percent. The annual average cost of pupil for public school education has increased from $11.20 in 1901 to $12.86 in 1906. The average number of pupils to each teacher was 28 in 1901, some having as high as 85 pupils and others as low as 32.

Ought to Be a Winner.

"Said I would win with the absent hair, 'I've got an idea for a bonanza that would prove a bonanza for some enterprising job-laws.'"

"Why, you come on with your explanation," said the other party to the dialogue.

"Because of the enormous circulation it would attain," replied the party of the prelude. "Why, every man with a bargain hunting wife would subscribe for it."

Jews in New York.

It is said that the New York Jew is the most numerous in the world in history or tradition. It represents 10 percent of the entire Jewish population of the world. It is larger than the aggregate Jewish population of the eastern large centers, Vienna, Budapest, Berlin, Vilna, Amsterdam, London and London. It is ten times larger than the entire Jewish population of France; it is 20 times larger than the entire Jewish population of Italy; it is 25 times larger than the population of Jerusalem, and 15 times larger than the entire Jewish population of Syria and Palestine.

A Poor Answer.

Otto E. Scher, president of the Waiter's club of New York, in a recent argument on tipping, said to his opponent, sharply:

"Your reply is altogether beside the point and irrelevant. It reminds me of a woman's reply in a German court. The woman was accused of poisoning her husband. The prosecuting attorney said to her:

"You have heard the evidence. The man said he was drinking to kill ten persons. What have you to say?"

"My husband," the woman answered, "was a big eater."

WITHOUT A THOUGHT OF FEAR.

Behavior of American Troops in the Face of Awful Death.

One of the most remarkable events in the annals of American arms occurred at Port Crook, on the day when a tornado struck the place. As the dispatches tell the story: "When the officers realized that a tornado had struck the post 600 men of the Sixth regiment were brought to battalion formation and in the midst of flying shells and other debris they were marched across the parade ground to the substantial buildings, where they were put at rest, and the cells. The damage was estimated to the extent of $100,000."

History and fiction alike have dwelt upon the daintiest spirit of men who have manifested their willingness to "charge the gates of hell or scale the heights of heaven," but doubtless no finer illustration of this spirit was ever given than when that devoted band of American soldiers at Port Crook formed ranks to "do or die" to the face of the face of the tornado, says the Kansas City Journal.

Those who have never viewed the fury of one of these terrible outbursts of the angry elements cannot imagine the dreadful reality of the scene, with the heavens blacker than night, the darkness intensified by blinding flashes of lightning, the terror of a storm multiplied by the terrific crashes of heaven's artillery, and the air filled with swirling clouds which hide all else but the awful figure of death, the ghastly funnel-shaped cloud which makes giant-leaps along the ground, uprooting trees and shivering houses, animals and human beings through the air on the wings of the death-dealing wind.

It is a sight to appal the stoutest heart and to cause the human mind to realize the utter impotence of man in the presence of the angry nature. The lava was a trivial incident of military duty compared with the steadfast display of the 600 men of the Sixth regiment at Port Crook, who coolly formed in line and braved the tornado's fury as though it were a matter of mere routine duty.

Metallic Mirrors.

The production of metallic mirrors for searchlights and other such uses is now in demand in Europe. The made of glass, now uses are objectionable owing to their liability to fracture when the guns are fired on ships, and to the silencing of the mirrors blistering and separating from the glass. A new metallic mirror made partly by electro-deposition, is being introduced. It consists of a surface composed of alternate bands or rings of gold and white reflecting surfaces. It is claimed that this mirror is more resistant to heat, light, both at night and in foggy weather; that objects on which such a beam of light is thrown stand out greater relief than a light of silver thrown from a silver white metal mirror, and that the intensity of the light is so great that it is impossible to aim accurately at the projector. Another advantage claimed for the new mirrors is that they are not fractured by concussion, and that they are even when operated by bullets the area of distortion is very small.

Making Electrical Engineers.

In the great shops of a well-known electrical company are some 300 young men, clad in workmen's garments, assembling small apparatus and testing dynamos, transformers, railway motors and lighting appliances of every description.

These men have come from universities, colleges and technical schools, not only in this country, but in all quarters of the civilized world. And they are supplementing the theories upon which they were trained by years of study with the admirable practice to be obtained in the finely-equipped shops and the variety of apparatus manufactured. Scientific American.

Feet.

The French foot is narrow and long. The Spanish foot is small and elegantly curved. That of the Arab is proverbial for its high arch. The foot of the Scotch is high and thick; that of the Irish flat and square; that of the English, short and fleshy. When it was in her zenith, the Grecian foot was the most perfectly formed and exactly proportioned of any of the human race. Swedes, Norwegians and Germans have the largest feet. Americans the smallest.

Anxious for Microbes.

The Man—'I'd give anything if you would kiss me.'

The Maid—'But the scientists say that you would be spreading the germ of love.' The Man—'Oh, never mind that. Go ahead, and make me an invalid for life.'

BOY PRESERVED HIS COOLNESS.

And So Did What He Could to Add to Driver's Exasperation.

The pedestrian and the driver have ever been at odds. Each thinks the other is wrong in his rights, and it is doubtful they ever will think, and so there is no love lost between them. Here was a light delivery wagon with a young man driver, coming around a corner, while crossing the street into which the wagon was turned was a boy. And the boy was not looking out, and he would have walked right into the horse's head if the driver hadn't savagely bellowed to him "Hey!" and held his horse up short.

Held up so the horse sagged back in the harness and that threw the front ends of the shafts up, and then the boy, who had never looked up or swerved in his course in the slightest degree, walked calmly ahead on under the ends of the uplifted shafts and under the horse's back while the driver glared at him and followed with eyes in concentrated form intended to show his deepest and bitterest contempt.

And the boy? He never looked back nor turned around, but just kept his eyes only on, ignoring the driver, and completely as if he had never been born; and it is scarcely any wonder that the feud keeps up when boys treat the drivers so.

FROM AN OLD BILL OF SALE.

Interesting inventory of items of Sale of a Hundred Years Ago.

A bill of sale of personal property 100 years old, very interesting in item, and was recorded on the deed books of the county with all the red tape of a land sale. There are some very interesting items noted upon these old sales of personal property, and it is amusing to take up some of the accounts and note the inventory of the property. The first item is a property by John Edgington of Spartanburg, to William R. Smith, also of Spartanburg, under date of May 18, 1808, the following are a few of the items which include a bill of goods that sold for $50:

One bedstead, one straw bed, one catall bed, two white sheets, three checked sheets, two sheet blankets, two home-made blankets, one horse, one cow, one pig, one skillet, three pewter basins, one half dozen pewter plates, one dish, five pewter spoons, ten cups, two quart bottles, one iron pot, one water pail, one pig, two plows, two awnle trees, one clever, one ax, one hand saw, one saw, one pickaxe, one iron shovel, one comb, two men's saddles, one shoe, two meal bags, one sack bag, one trunk, and the men and women wearing apparel, etc.—Spartanburg Herald.

Much Good in the World.

That was a sober child's face at the window—but see, to what sunny smiles it lights at the sight of a greeting hand! This is a plodding, uncouth stranger on his dull way to his morning's work. But with every step he takes, he comes up to a passing kindness. You never suspected your grumbling neighbor of capacity for love—but watch him with his little child. There is more good in the world than we have been ready to allow, more kindness, faith and unselfishness. If you stand at the corner in the hearts of men, are we without them? May there be no defect of vision in our study of the world. May we not see the part of the retarding winter which we feel about us as we go on our melancholy way spring from our own hearts? We are not perfect. It will be so, indeed, if we go about the world like the east wind in May, that holds the leaves and blossoms back, but keeps the seeds of spring. —The Congregationalist.

Cattle King of Australia.

Admiral Sir John Bland, son and three daughters, Sidney Kidman, one of the most interesting personalities in the empire, has arrived in London from the Royal Victoria. He is the king of Australia. Mr. Kidman was born in the island continent 51 years ago, and has never been in this country before. At 14 Mr. Kidman, whose home is at Kapunda, about 50 miles from Adelaide, was earning two dollars a week when the Broken Hill mine was discovered. He was then 16 years of age. Beginning life as a teamster he has worked his way up till he is the largest horse-breeder and the greatest cattle owner in Australia. He has 100,000 head of cattle and 10,000 horses. —From a London Letter.

A Proper Pride.

Farmer Green—'I remember the old lady Pinnerell boy that helped me with 'his' hayin' last year? I gave him 18 cents for his help. Well, he's got to be a right smart little pitcher, an' 't'other day a fellow came along an' offered him 5,000 to 'lash out the seeds' in his perfectness. He said: 'The City Boarder—Well, well! He jumped at it, of course?'

Farmer Green—'Not yet. Sandy Pinnerell was a free face, but he's got a proper pride about him, too. He says that he don't know as he cares to be tied up to any team that he can't be made to be tall enough—' Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The Purely Personal Interest.

"Ought we not to do something for the preservation of our forests?" "Oh, what's the use?" answered Senator Borah, impatiently. "Trees can't vote." Washington Star.

WHAT INTERESTED THE CHIEF.

South Sea Potentate Anxious to Hear of Famous White Men.

Dr. Russell Cook of California happened to suppress an epidemic of measles among the natives of Tahiti, and Chief Oreoro gratefully invited him to a banquet in his primitive palace. The South Sea potentate and with a young man driver, coming around a corner, while crossing the street into which the wagon was turned was a boy. And the boy was not looking out, and he would have walked right into the horse's head if the driver hadn't savagely bellowed to him "Hey!" and held his horse up short.

In the eyes of Chief Oreoro, Robert Louis Stevenson, who did so much to improve the condition of the South Sea Islanders, was the greatest white man that ever lived. The chief related to Dr. Cook many incidents to illustrate Stevenson's kindness, then and there, and the chief related to him the health of Stevenson's widow and of his stepchildren. When the last question had been answered there followed a long period of silence. The two friends puffed slowly at their cigars and luxuriously regarded the radiant tropic moonlight glowing upon rustling palms and the silver ocean. Then Oreoro turned to the doctor and demanded, "Now, tell me about John L. Sullivan!"

PUT CHILDREN IN SAFE PLACE.

Father's Ingeniously Saved Offspring from the Tornado's Fury.

Wits which are serviceable only in fair weather are not of much use to the people of a very stormy country. All sorts of vicissitudes present themselves to the dweller of the wild regions. Mr. Willey, in his "History of Ohio," mentions a case in the instance of a man whose ingenuity withstood a cyclone. The incident took place in the early days of Jackson.

When a storm of this kind passed over the little settlement. It was so strong hardly anything could stand before it. Houses and barns were leveled, trees were whirled about in the air like sticks, and men and women were caught up and carried along for rods. One house was razed to the ground, and chairs, tables, beds, bedding and children went flying about in the wind. The father of the family, snatching his babies from the grasp of the monster, thrust the little folks' heads through two rails of a fence and left them thus secured, with their legs dangling in the wind. He then went to look after his other property.

When the five little children remained safe in their fastenings, and unharmed outside the tempest—Youth's Companion.

Not Dead.

Much ado was made last week by daily press over the mysterious (?) disappearance on Sunday, June 30, of Jas. B. Neal, a young man of Lexington, who on preceding Thursday married Miss Laura Baker, of that city. They went to Cincinnati and on Sunday morning he was looking for a barber shop and, according to report, was snatched. Much ado was made of the incident. Friends went to a cue of the bride, who was protected over the sad event. He is found and restored to his bride. The whole affair appeared to us like a big fish story, but the daily papers had a great sensation. The reports were he was snatched and unconscious, came to himself twenty miles from Cleveland and walked to the city, etc.

Extraordinary Lightning Stroke.

Prof. A. Herschel, in the Quarterly Journal of the Royal Meteorological society for October last, describes the extraordinary effects produced by lightning in the midst of an open room in Northumberland. A hole four or five feet in diameter was made in the flat, peaty ground, and from this half a dozen furrows extended on all sides. Pieces of turf were thrown in various directions, one three feet in diameter and a foot thick having fallen 75 feet from the hole. Investigation showed that in addition to the effects visible on the surface, small holes had been bored in the earth radiating from the large excavation.

DEMOCRATIC

Campaign Book Ready for Distribution.

The Democratic Congressional campaign book consists of nearly four hundred pages. The document is one of the strongest ever gotten up. The first division deals with Republican extravagance and was prepared by Representative Fitzgerald, of New York, Democratic member of the Appropriations Committee. From 1862 to 1865, four Civil War years, the total expenditures of the Government were $3,394,859,931; during the four Theodore Roosevelt years 1906-1909 (appropriations already having been made to July 1 of next year) the amount is $3,428,809,371.

A speech by Senator Culberson on the emergency currency bill and two of Mr. Bryan's greatest speeches this year are in the book. One on currency reform, and the other entitled "Thou Shalt Not Steal." They were both delivered in New York City last February.

CHAMP CLARK'S INCIDENT.

The powerful speech delivered in the House several months ago by Champ Clark, of Missouri, of course finds a prominent place in the book.

Two speeches by Hon. John Sharp Williams are given leading positions. One is the plea of the minority. The other is on Federal usurpations of power by the Republican party.

The committee incorporated all of the strong speeches made by Representative Ollie M. James.

The remarks of Representative Kimball, of Kentucky, on free wood pulp are also published.

MT. Sterling Collegiate Institute

The third session of Mt. Sterling Collegiate Institute will open on Tuesday, September 8, and full courses of study will be maintained throughout the year.

That there is need of such a school as this is demonstrated by the enrollments of the first and second years. We trust the work of the past two years will justify our patrons in continuing with us, and that many others will join us the coming year.

We want to make our pupils as comfortable as possible till we secure the grounds and buildings towards which we are working, and that we so much need.

It takes time to build permanently, and we want to make sure as we proceed. Very much of success in the future depends upon how the people of Mt. Sterling and Montgomery county stand by and support this institution. It is largely in their hands to do with as they think best.

We shall spare neither time nor means to continue this as one among the best schools in this section of the State, and we bespeak a careful consideration of our claims on the part of those having children to educate.

Very truly,
WM. H. CORD,
Pres. Mt. Sterling Collegiate Institute.

MARRIAGES

SHIRLEY-JOHNSON.

Miss Mae Shirley and Mr. Massie Johnson, both of Winchester, were married on Sunday night. The bride is a niece of Dr. Shirley, of our city. The groom was once in the employ of John Jones, the jeweler.

COONS-OGG.

On Tuesday, June 30, 1908, at 1 o'clock, at the home of Mrs. Lucy B. Ogg, in this city, her daughter, Miss Grace Truman Ogg, was united in marriage to Mr. Joseph H., son of Elijah Coons, who lives on Spencer creek. Rev. J. L. Weber officiated in the presence of a few relatives and friends. These popular young people have our best wishes for happiness and long life.

The Beattyville Enterprise says: "Mrs. Maggie Day, daughter of John Day, has married four brothers, according to age. Robert Elkins was her first husband, and after his death, James, the next brother, married her. After his death the next brother, Barley, married her, and upon his death, Monroe, the fourth and last brother, took her to wife. Of course, the usual time of mourning intervened between the marriages. The children of the first two husbands, are brothers and sisters, as well as first cousins. She and her last husband are still living. There is probably not another case in the history of Kentucky like this. Her second husband was uncle to her first husband's children, and by marriage she became aunt to her own children."

Last Step In Powers Case.

On Monday when Special Judge Morris went to Georgetown and formally called for trial the case of the Commonwealth against Caleb Powers, Jailer Finley filed the pardon granted by Governor Willson and the case was stricken from the docket.

Judge Morris ordered $5,000 witness claims for the last trial paid, and the Marlin rifle returned to Grant Roberts. The total cost to the State of the four trials of Powers aggregates $40,000.

The cases against ex-Governor W. S. Taylor and ex-Secretary of State Charles Finley will be called at the next term of the Franklin court.

SHOOTING AFFRAY.

Floyd Horton and Millard Dennis Shot and Gardner Nelson Cut On L. & E. Train July 4

Saturday afternoon, as the L. & E. train was west bound, a fight occurred on the train between Clay City and West Bend.

Floyd Horton and Gardner Nelson became engaged in an altercation in which the latter shot Horton twice, one bullet going through his lungs and the other entering his chin. A stray bullet struck Millard Dennis in the neck. Reese Horton, a son of Floyd Horton, cut Nelson very badly, two of the wounds penetrating the skull and injuring the brain.

The wounded men were taken to the Good Samaritan Hospital, Lexington.

Horton lives near Pilot View and is a member of the well known firm of Conner & Horton, dealers in live stock. Nelson had worked for the firm.

Dennis lives in this city and was struck by a stray bullet.

Some of the parties were drinking considerably which may partly account for the trouble.—Winchester Democrat.

GREATEST TRIUMPH.

The Wonder-Worker in Plants
Produces Cacti That Combines
Fruit and Vegetable for Man and Fodder For Beast.

Luther Burbank, who has illumined the world with floral sunshine and made men glad because of the fruits and vegetables he has coaxed from the earth with scientific genius, is about to commercialize his "greatest triumph."

He proposes to feed man and beast on cactus plants.

Now he is about prepared to flood the markets of the world with a spineless, thornless, fruit bearing, nutritious cactus that will prove a dietary boon to mankind and will tickle the palates of pigs, cattle, sheep and horses.

Our ancestors never dreamed of the wireless telegraph or the horseless carriage, but both are here.

We of the present generation never dreamed of the thornless cactus, but it's here.

This civilizing of the savage desert plant is the result of long experimentation by Mr. Burbank at Santa Rosa, California.

At a model nursery established for the propagation of his discovery in the Salton Sea district of California, there are now 1,200 of these growing, flourishing plants.

The thornless cactus plant three years old is six feet high, six feet in circumference and weighs 500 pounds. An acre of ground planted with it will yield 500 tons of forage and from ten to twenty tons of fruit, more delicious than oranges, peaches, apples, or pears.

Four tons of cactus equal in food value one ton of alfalfa, and the conclusion of this is that an acre of land will produce four times as much cactus as alfalfa, the acre being considered an excellent crop.

The cactus plant is of further value, because it can be grown on land that will not produce alfalfa.

GOOD JOB FOR COLORED MAN.

Will Transport Mail From Lexington Postoffice to Depots.

Beginning July 1 the handling of the United States mail between the postoffice and the depots will pass into the hands of Jordon C. Jackson, colored, for four years, he having secured the contract over several competitors.

As the contract is worth for the four years something like $20,000, this is the most important assignment ever given a colored citizen of Lexington.

The Cynthia Democrat is guilty of the following: "A lady living in Mason county had raised 129 turkeys this season that were large enough to fly to her shoulders, when, although they were doing well, she was told by a friend that large doses of calomel would prevent their contracting diseases. She gave them the calomel, and next morning they were all dead except 52. Those remaining were too weak to fly to her shoulders, and it is presumed she wouldn't care much about having them up there under the circumstances."

THE RIGHT NOT TO DRINK

Essential to Social Progress—
Keep Temptation From Men.

[Louisville Post.]

The Courier-Journal and the Memphis Commercial-Appeal say "no Prohibitionist can be a Democrat," and the Courier-Journal declares that every Prohibitionist is preaching the doctrine of Moham-medanism. He may be a local optionist, but only provided that when an election is held under the local option law he agrees to vote to keep the saloons.

The right not to drink is, we say, as inalienable and as essential to social progress and political freedom as the right to get drunk as a lord; but it is assailed. Every man who would defend this right not to get drunk and who would keep temptation out of the way of men who do not want to get drunk is treated as a public enemy by the representatives of the liquor trade. Here are two illustrations:

The first is addressed by the Fred Miller Brewing Company, of Milwaukee, to the editor of the Times-Democrat. It is as follows:

Milwaukee, U. S. A., Dec. 6, '07.

Editor of the Times-Democrat:

Dear Sir:—We beg to call your attention to the fact that certain newspapers throughout the country feel rather inclined to boost the prohibition game, making large front-page displays with flaring headlines (presumably in sympathy with the Anti-Saloon League, etc.), which the brewers in general are keeping a record of (we being no exception), and as you have had a certain proportion of our business in the past, we feel it our duty to advise you that all these different newspapers who fail to suppress prohibition and Anti-saloon League news hereafter (for which they receive nothing, while the brewers are large advertisers, spending enormous sums of money in newspaper advertising every year) will not only lose our patronage, but also that of most every brewery in the United States.

We are now receiving daily reports on this subject, and all papers continuing to knock our business in this way can expect to be turned down on any future advertising contracts from both ourselves and all other large breweries.

Respectfully yours,

Fred Miller Brewing Co.

Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy Would Have Saved Him $100.

"In 1902 I had a very severe attack of diarrhoea," says R. N. Farrar, of Cat Island, La. "For several weeks I was unable to do anything. On March 18, 1907, I had a similar attack, and took Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy which gave me prompt relief. I consider it one of the best medicines of its kind in the world, and had I used it in 1902 believe it would have saved me a hundred dollar doctor's bill." Sold by R. H. White & Co., Druggists.

Arrested in London.

One thousand suffragettes attempted to rescue 28 of their number, who were arrested during a demonstration in Parliament Square.

The prisoners were being taken to prison when a mob of enraged women rushed the police van. Hundreds of police succeeded in beating back the women.

The prisoners were given the option of being placed under peace bonds running from $20 to $250, or going to prison for from one to three months.

Only one woman agreed to give bond.

The suffragettes have decided to repeat the performance until Parliament grants them the right of franchise.

Great Relief

During that trying period in which women so often suffer from nervousness, headache, sick headache, or other pains, there is nothing that can equal Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills. They stop the pains, soothe the nerves, and give to the relief so much desired. If taken on first indication of pain or misery, they will allay the irritable condition of the nerves, and save you further suffering. Those who use them at regular intervals have ceased to dread these periods. They contain no harmful drugs, and leave no effect upon the heart or stomach if taken as directed. They give prompt relief.

"I have been an invalid for 8 years. I have neuritis, rheumatism and pains around the heart. By using Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills I am relieved of the pain, and get sleep and rest. I think had I known of the Pain Pills when I was first taken sick they would have cured me. I recommend them for periodic pains."

REVEALS THE PLOTS

Which Resulted In Assassination
Of King and Crown Prince.

Lisbon, July 2.—Dr. Jose De Alpoim, chief of the Progressive dissentists, smarting under insinuations that he was implicated in the assassinations in Lisbon last February of King Carlos and Crown Prince Luiz, created a sensation in the House of Lords by revealing what he declared to be a true history of this regicide plot. He asserted the assassinations were decided upon at a meeting of the leaders of the Progressive Regenerator party a few days before they were carried out. A number of Republicans were also present at the meeting, he said.

Help Farmers to Get Help.

The Department of Commerce and Labor and the Postoffice Department have inaugurated a plan which will relieve farmers and others from embarrassment in procuring help.

The plan contemplates the distribution of aliens and others seeking employment. In that view, there are being forwarded to postmasters throughout the United States, packages of cards, with return attachments, for distribution to farmers and others who are likely to need the services of farm and common laborers, or mechanics, and who may obtain the character of help required by mailing the return information card, without payment of postage. For this valuable service no charge is to be made.

Most of the fun a man has is in the anticipation rather than in the realization.

Over Thirty-Five Years.

In 1872 there was a great deal of diarrhoea, dysentery and cholera infantum. It was at this time that Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy was first brought into use. It proved more successful than any other remedy or treatment, and has for thirty-five years maintained that record. From a small beginning its sale and use has extended to every part of the United States and to many foreign countries. Nine druggists out of ten will recommend it when their opinion is asked, although they have other medicines that pay them a greater profit. It can always be depended upon, even in the most severe and dangerous cases. For sale by R. H. White & Co., Druggists. 51-31
